

Helena Elias Myeya's Min CV

Helena Elias Myeya is a Tanzania citizen, married. She was born on 13/04/1979. She is currently working as Lecturer at the University of Dar es salaam, Mkwawa University College of Education in Geography and Economics Department. She holds Doctor of Philosophy (2016) and Masters of Arts degree (2010) in Geography and Environmental Management from the University of Dar es Salaam. She also graduated her bachelor degree (2006), (Bachelor of Arts with Education) majoring in Geography and History at the University of Dar es salaam. Helena Elias Myeya is an environmental scientist focusing on climate change, agriculture and food security issues. She is also knowledgeable in areas of natural resource management, environmental impact assessment, environment auditing, environmental monitoring, facilitating strategic plan development, awareness creation activities as well as project monitoring and evaluation. Helena Elias Myeya has conducted research and published in climate change, agriculture, food security, natural resources management and population issues.
