

John Mlyahilu is an Assistant Lecturer in the department of Mathematics, Physics and Informatics at Mkwawa University College of Education. He completed Bachelor degree in Science majoring mathematics at the University of Dar es Salaam, and MSc in Statistics from South Korea. His research interests are biostatistics, epidemiology and image analysis. He teaches mathematics courses including mathematical statistics, linear algebra and data analysis. He is currently doing his PhD studies in the department of IT convergence and Image analysis in South Korea.